

WISDOM

If you find you are not as wise today as you thought you were yesterday, you are wiser today.

A wise man hears one word and understands two.

Virtue is to love men, and wisdom is to understand men.

A truly wise man always has more questions than answers.

A fool who would hold his tongue will often pass as a sage.

A million facts don't necessarily add up to wisdom.

Foolishness rarely lacks for opportunity.

A flow of words is not proof of great wisdom.

To those who fail to heed their own words be warned, you never know who is listening.

Some are wise, and some are otherwise.

And he is oft the wisest man who is not wise at all.

I think the wisest admission I ever made was "I kept my mouth shut".

The fool doth thinks he is wise, but the wise man knows himself to be a fool.

The wind in your face helps make you wise.

Nature has wisely given us two ears but only one mouth.

It is often the greatest wisdom to be ignorant.

To admit you don't know everything is the first step on the road to wisdom.

Wisdom is an attribute that enables you to avoid situations where you really need it.

Wisdom doesn't come cheap. ~

The wise man doesn't give the right answers, he poses the right questions.

We don't receive wisdom; we must discover it for ourselves, after a journey that no one can take for us or spare us.
